

Jaydip Lakhankiya is walking 12,000 km from Malta to India and picking up one bag of garbage where practical each day.

Jaydip Lakhankiya, known as The Climate Walker, is a 25-year-old walker and outdoor instructor from Bhavnagar, Gujarat, India. He is walking roughly 12,000 km across around 20 countries, meeting people on the road and using daily cleanup to keep the message visible.

Fast Facts

Mission

Walk from Malta to India with daily cleanup and road conversations.

Distance

Approximately 12,000 km.

Route

Around 20 countries over roughly 18 months.

Daily action

One bag of garbage collected each day where practical.

Public location

Delayed and generalized for safety.

Support

Support goes to The Climate Walker LLC and helps Jaydip Lakhankiya keep the walk, cleanup work, route logistics, and documentation moving.

Cleanup logged

140 garbage bags in the latest public update.

Countries entered

Malta, Italy, Vatican City, and San Marino.

Public city history

Rome, Venice, Padua, and Udine.

---

Biography Options

Ultra Short

Jaydip Lakhankiya, The Climate Walker, is walking roughly 12,000 km from Malta to India while collecting one bag of garbage where practical each day.

Short

Jaydip Lakhankiya, known as The Climate Walker, is from Bhavnagar, Gujarat and is walking from Malta to India across around 20 countries. He picks up one bag of garbage where practical each day, talks with people on the road, and documents the route through his own channels.

Medium

Jaydip Lakhankiya is a 25-year-old long-distance walker and outdoor instructor from Gujarat, India. After a 182-day walking and hitchhiking journey across India and later study in Malta, he began The Climate Walker: a roughly 12,000 km walk from Malta to India. Along the route, he documents progress, speaks with communities, visits schools and organizations when possible, and collects one bag of garbage where practical each day.

---

Story Angles

- A farmer's son from Gujarat walking from Malta to India to connect climate change with crops, water, heat, work, and waste.
- One bag of garbage a day: why cleanup keeps the walk honest.
- A 12,000 km route across around 20 countries, with only required ferry crossings.

- From Malta localities to Udine: how the public route now includes Malta, Italy, Vatican City, and San Marino.
  - How schools, NGOs, local hosts, translators, and media can turn a pass-through route into public education.
  - What happens after India: cleanup, environmental education, speaking, documentary work, and long-term mission growth.
-

Quotes

I pick up one bag because responsibility should be visible.

The road makes people ask questions. The bag gives the answer.

Walking makes climate a local conversation.

---

Route And Media Context

The public tracker shows only generalized and delayed location information. The latest public route status is Udine, Italy, delayed for safety. Countries entered so far: Malta, Italy, Vatican City, and San Marino. Public city history includes Rome, Venice, Padua, and Udine. Exact live GPS and the next private route plan are not published for safety. Current route status should be checked at theclimatewalker.com/live.

---

Approved Assets And Usage

Use only Jaydip-owned, The Climate Walker LLC-approved, or explicitly licensed assets. Do not copy public news photos or third-party media without permission. Current approved web previews include the official logo, official mission photo, and stills from Jaydip's own videos.

Logo: official web logo

Media page: theclimatewalker.com/media/press-kit

---

Media Contact

Email: theclimatewalker@gmail.com

WhatsApp: +356 9949 8547

Last updated May 23, 2026. Public route data is delayed and generalized for safety.